West Nile Virus Information and Resources

- The San Mateo County Mosquito and Vector Control District is responding to the presence of West Nile virus in our region.
- Spreading through the bite of an infected mosquito, the virus can cause disease in humans, horses, and birds, making people sick and sometimes causing death.
- Most people who contract the virus have mild or no symptoms and will recover quickly, but older adults and immunocompromised people are at higher risk for severe disease
- West Nile virus does not spread through coughing, sneezing or person-to-person contact.
- The best way to prevent infection is to protect yourself from mosquito bites. More information and resources from San Mateo County Health. <https://www.smchealth.org/west-nile-virus>
